“Aim for the stars and you might reach the sky”

The IB is one of the hardest programs in the world, so if you are doing it, you can already be proud. It is going to be two difficult years of blood, sweat and tears, but if you simply plan ahead and follow the deadlines (instead of doing everything the night before) you will do just fine – and trust me, in the end it is all worth every single minute of work that you put in! My best advice for you is to plan your time, but always remember to plan time for relaxing as well – sometimes just an hour or so, but sometimes several days during the holidays to regain your energy.
